CMH AT TACTICON 2015

CMH member John Owen in action!

Reflections on Tacticon 2015 By Terry Shockey

September 4-6, 2015 saw CMH represented at the latest version of Tacticon. Even though there was new management of the con the miniatures events went on with CMH present. Kudos go out to Mike Garland of CSGA, who continues to soldier on as miniatures coordinator of the traditional cons in Denver. The attendance at the historical miniatures was down. But most of the games did have enough players. One of the major complaints was the lack of information, i.e. a booklet either before the convention or at the convention itself. Among the events was a DBA tournament attended by a dozen participants.

DBA 3.0 Tournament a Great Success

Tacticon 2015 once again featured the traditional Front Range De Bellis Antiquitas (DBA) 3.0 Tournament on 6 September in the Hotel Radisson Denver Southeast. The glittering arrays of competing armies brought color and drama to the daylong event. Contestants went three rounds each with twelve element armies in a Swiss-system tournament. The 25 point scoring system adapted from De Bellis Magitrorum Militum (DBMM) 2 and agreed to by the Colorado Military Historians (CMH) and Colorado Springs Gamers Association (CSGA) was used. Thirteen players committed themselves to the field of battle, exulting in the excitement and glory that only DBA can bring!

The armies deployed were breath-taking in their chronological and geographical scope. Art Hayes marched on with his Eastern Late Imperial Romans (II78b), Brent Sustaita with his Dacians (II52) and a Sarmatian Ally (II26), Doug Rains with his Hephthalite Huns (II80c), Doug Mudd with his Chao Chinese (II4c), Gary Vardon with Ptolemaics (II20c), Greg Rold with Trojans (I26b), James Pirc with his Western Late Imperial Romans (II78a), Jim Rairdon with his Scots Common Army (IV16), Matt Vigil with his Early Russians (III79), Noah Wohletz with his Marian Romans (II49), and Russ Register with his Vikings (III40b). Because of an odd number of players, tournament hosts John Brown and Terry Shockey tag-teamed to facilitate the Swiss-system format. John played with Tamils (II42b) and Terry with Carolingians (III28).

When the dust settled, Art Hayes had come in first with an astonishing 72 out of 75 possible points. The Emperor Constantine must have been most pleased! The tag team of John Brown and Terry Shockey would have been second, but were disqualified for fielding outrageously outsized elephants. It seems the Lord of the Rings looking pachyderms were not actually 15mm scale, and were so intimidating they conferred an unfair advantage. Thus Brent Sustaita came in second with 51 points. CMH's own Matt Vigil came in third with 42 points, overcoming disastrous luck in his second game to do so. Gary Vardon came in fourth with 41 points, and Noah Wohletz fifth with 38 points. Noah's performance is remarkable for having been from the youngest yet to play in, much less place in, one of our DBA 3.0 Tournaments. We figure he has 80 years or more of high performance DBA in front of him! Greg Rold won the coveted Pink Dice Award, stacking up recurrent "ones" over three games straight.

Our next major DBA event will be the BBDBA 3.0 Tournament at Genghis Con in February. We will have warm up games at our January and February club meetings, and are sure to have some pick-up DBA 3.0 as well. If you have any questions or comments, please pass them along to John Brown at jsandmbbrown@msn.com.

This is Incredible! What a Treasure...

Phil Warren, from the UK, spent 62 years to build this incredible fleet of 432 ships. All vessels are built entirely of matchsticks and boxes of wooden matches. The collection includes nearly 370 American and 60 British ships.

Although now 84 years of age, Mr. Warren began creating his first boat in 1948, when he was only 17. He uses a razor blade, tweezers and sandpaper to carve the pieces and boxes, then sticks them together with balsa wood glue.

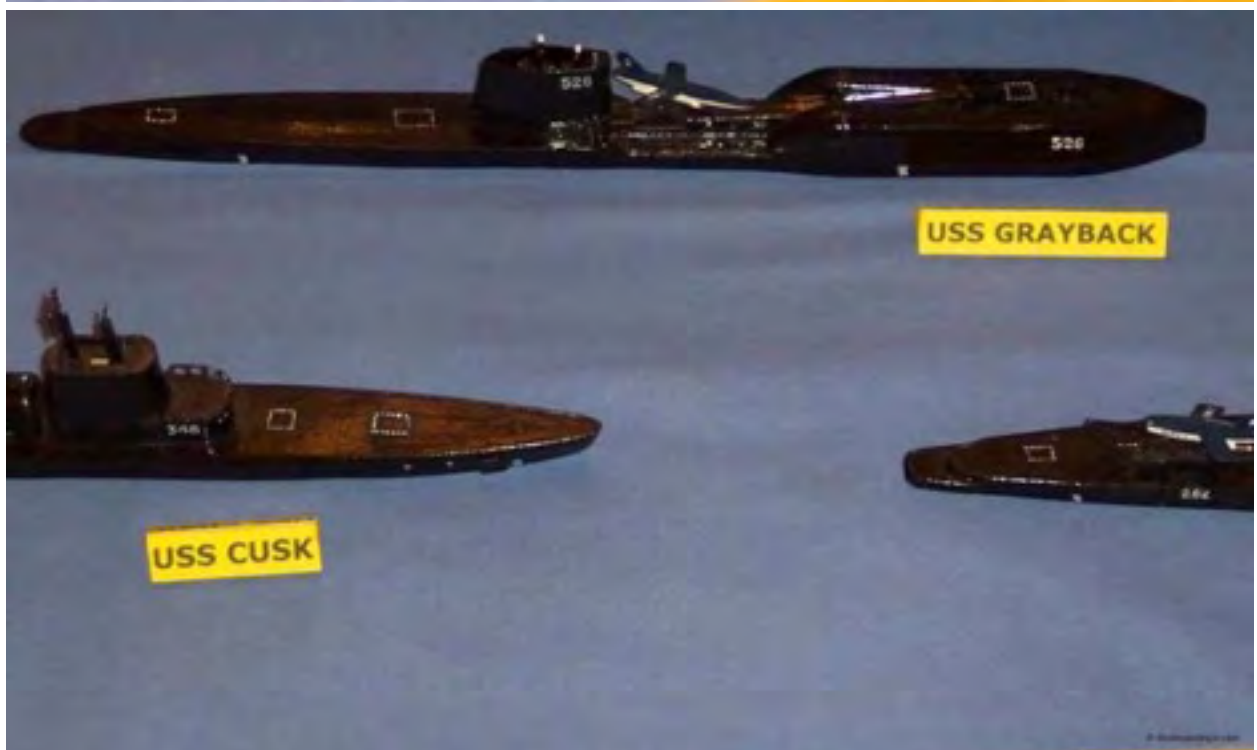

In total, more than 650,000 matchsticks were used to create an amazing collection of 1:300 scale models. His 1,200 aircraft make an even more realistic appearance to dress the decks of aircraft carriers.

THE FRANK OKOVICH LIBRARY SILENT AUCTION

In August of this year, Frank Okovich, a fellow Denver area gamer passed away. His brother-in-law contacted me to donate his library to CMH. His request was to “find good homes” for these books. It is an extensive library and does need to be viewed. After a discussion at the September monthly meeting and with the CMH board it was decided to hold a silent auction. This auction will last until the end of December. If you are interested in any of these books please let me know. The minimum bid for a book is $1. Each month of the auction the list will be posted and the books marked that have received bids. The proceeds will go to CMH. If there is enough revenue created from this auction a portion will be donated to a charity that CMH will choose. Below you will find the listing.

Thank You

Terry Shockey, CMH Secretary

OF MEN AND ARMS I SPEAK

Over the past month I have talked with a few wargamers at the seemingly dwindling crowd of younger players either at the cons or at our club meetings. It is apparent that a short attention span of newer gamers and too few bells and whistles that miniatures provide, as opposed to video games, is a contributing factor. A number of younger gamers want to play a game that can be done in a very short time. If they like the game, then play it again several times in a row.

With that in mind would it not be prudent for us to present some games at the monthly club meeting, the Friday Night Fights, or at the cons that could cater to this mindset? As an example, DBA is a very quick game, for the most part. Other possibilities could be the beer and pretzels types of games in which the younger set could participate for a short period of time and then move on to something else. Examples might be a Western town with continuous gunfight scenarios of a few minutes, a quick raid by vikings on a village, French trappers attempting to get down a rough river.

It seems that we need to gain the younger player's attention with short time, easy rules games. If we can once get them to realize our presence with these cameo games, maybe we can slowly introduce more involved games.

We owe it to them and to the millions of men and women we try to portray who have honorably served their countries. At least that is my view.

Minutes of the September Officer Meeting

ATTENDING WERE: Nate Forte, Larry Irons, Terry Shockey, and Doug Wildfong.

Meeting began at 6:53 PM.

Old Business:

The culling of the CMH Yahoo group is on going with Larry and Nate in charge.

There seemed to be positive expressions from the membership at the August monthly meeting about a major WWI Naval extravaganza in June. This would involve a refight of the Battle of Jutland. This would coincide with the celebration of CMH's 51st anniversary and the 100th anniversary of that major naval battle.

Also discussed were the West Wars in May and the annual Smackdown with CSGA in July.

New Business:

There was the untimely death of Frank Okovich, a Denver gamer, that a number of us knew. His brother-in-law has donated his library to CMH for disposal in any way we see fit. We will be presenting the inventory of the library to CMH and decision of how to utilize this windfall will be forthcoming.

The meeting concluded at 8PM
